My first walk outside of Ontario in a long time! It was supposed to be very flat and straight forward. But I decided to shortcut from the Pardes Hanna train station to the Binyamina train station through the fields along the train tracks. It turned out that this involved quite a number of fields, and plantations, and bushes, and fences to cross (one electrified, though power was off), and even one creek to waddle across. Did I mention quite a lot of trespassing? About 15km total.
